

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. An internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus comprising:

a first server or a POS system installed in a store to receive information transmitted from a portable information apparatus;

a host computer for receiving information transmitted from said first server or said POS system;

an internet telephone server for receiving said information transmitted from said host computer; and a second server for receiving information transmitted from said internet telephone server and installed by a provider to which other receiving party subscribes.

2. An internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein said first server installed in said store is provided at a convenience store, a gas station or a dining-out industry.

3. An internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein said host computer is provided in a head office of said store for summerizingly controlling said information transmitted from respectives of a plurality of said stores.

4. An internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein said portable information apparatus is a cellular phone.

5. An internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein said information is telephone number.

6. An internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein said first server and said POS system is one body.

7. An internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus according to Claim 1, wherein said POS system has a member capable of communicating with said portable information apparatus and said first server is deleted.

8. A method of an internet telephone utilizing a portable information apparatus, characterized in comprising:

registering as a member of an internet telephone system utilizing a portable information apparatus; transmitting a telephone number of a receiving party to a first server or a POS system installed in a store by using said portable information apparatus by said registered member;

transmitting information received from said first server or said POS system receiving said telephone number of said receiving party to a host computer; transmitting the information received by said host computer to an internet telephone server; transmitting said information received by said internet telephone server to a provider to which said receiving party subscribes; and transmitting said information from said provider receiving said information transmitted from said internet telephone to an information apparatus of said receiving party who subscribes to said provider.